

A group of people are participating in a traditional game called 'The Fishy Pull' inside a church hall. They are pulling on ropes attached to a central point, with a table in the center holding various items. A plaque on the wall reads 'Cast by MEARS & STAINBANK, London 1806-1811'. The room has wooden walls and a wooden floor. A table in the center holds papers, a red box, and other items. A whiteboard with the text 'next Mon' is visible in the background.
